PATRIOTIC POPULISTS.

The Populist Convention at Tacoma, Washington, issued a call to the people of the State for fusion on the silver issue regardless of politics. It begins with the words: "Read not to contradict nor to believe, but to weigh and consider." It declares that American indifference to Government misgovernment must end or the republic will cease to exist. It severely criticizes the Republican bosses and urges those who have been deceived to break away from the party and join in a loyal, patriotic campaign for right and against monopoly and the single gold standard. It declares that two-thirds of the Republicans of the state of Washington are for the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver. Now that the "bosses" have hauled down the bimetallic flag and run up the single gold standard flag, Republicans are asked if it is not to their interest to leave the party which for years has been dominated by powerful monopolists.

The call recites the principles of the Populist party and closes with an invitation to all voters to join in the formation of a party which will advocate equal rights to all, men, women, and children and special privileges to none.

It is admitted by many Republicans that over two-thirds of the people of Eastern Washington are favorable to silver and the Spokane Review, one of the leading newspapers of the State, claims that four-fifths of the people of Washington are favorable to free coinage.

The defeat of the single gold standard in the coming Presidential campaign depends upon the action of the Silver men, who are, beyond doubt, in a majority in the United States. If they fight each other and divide into factions the gold men will carry the country; if they unite and present an unbroken front to the common enemy they will be victorious. The gold men of all parties will unite on McKinley. There is no reasonable doubt of that. If the silver men unite on a candidate and let minor differences alone they will sweep the country.

SENATOR MANTLE BOLTS.

Some of the delegates to the Republican National Convention, who did not bolt with Teller and the others, have since declared against the ticket. United States Senator Mantle of Montana, in a statement over his signature, says that while he did not withdraw from the late Republican convention he is, nevertheless, firmly of the opinion that in the adoption of the single gold standard the Republican party has abandoned one of its cardinal principles of faith and he cannot support it. He believes that Henry M. Teller represents in the fullest and highest sense the true principles and purposes of the Republican party as advocated by Lincoln, Grant and Blaine. He indorses the suggestion of his candidacy for President and does not hesitate to say that he shall give him his hearty support, and advises all who believe in the principles for which he stands to do the same.

That is plain, manly and outspoken. The Republican National Convention which nominated Harrison for President denounced Cleveland's Administration for its efforts to demonetize silver. That convention declared for the use of gold and silver as money and condemned Cleveland for attempting to demonetize silver. Now the Republican National Convention declares for gold and indorses Cleveland's financial policy. Under such circumstances it is not surprising that men like Teller, who place principle above party name, should abandon the Republican organization which no longer represents the people, and which is directed and controlled by Manager Hanna in the interest of trusts and monopolies.

THE FIFTY-CENT DOLLAR.

The cry of "fifty-cent dollar" raised by the gold men in the East, is reacting upon employers. At Hazleton, Pennsylvania, many of those employing large numbers of men, have experienced considerable trouble. The men got into their heads that silver dollars and paper money were not worth more than half their face value, and at the monthly paydays refused to take anything but gold coin. One man, a contractor, who employed 300 men, could not get gold enough to pay them. The men held a meeting and decided that they would be gold men commercially, if their employers were gold men politically, and that their labor should be paid for on a "sound money" basis, only. The contractor called at his bank and wanted $1,000 in gold. He was dumbfounded when the teller told him he could not get that much gold in the county. Out of $11,000,000 on deposit in the several banks in the county, it was estimated that not one-half the amount of gold which he required was in circulation. The laborers refused to take more than five dollars in silver or paper, and the contractor was greatly embarrassed.

That is treating the 'gold men' right. They have been insisting that silver dollars are fifty-cent dollars, and their employers are taking them at their word. Out of $10,000,000 on deposit in the banks there is not $500 in gold coin and the laborers whom they employ will not take anything but gold for their wages. People who do not handle a ten-dollar gold piece in their business in six months, insist on the single gold standard, and when their employees follow their example they cannot find gold enough in the banks to pay them a month's wages.

THE PRIZE FIGHT.

Police Interference Barely Saves Corbett from a Knockout.

The four-round glove contest between Corbett and Sharkey at San Francisco came very near ending disastrously for the former as far as his championship laurels were concerned. Corbett's confidence was of little value, for before the first round was over he discovered to his horror, he had met an opponent that was no plaything. Each succeeding round showed the champion in a bad fix, and when the fourth was reached, in sailor parlance, he was on his beam's end. In the last round Sharkey knocked him down and was advancing to give him the knock-out blow when the police interfered and saved Corbett not only his reputation but a certain defeat.

Sharkey, it is said, was as fresh as a daisy at the conclusion of the contest, while Corbett was winded and showed plainly how near he had come to losing the fight. It is reported that Corbett had not trained properly, believing that he had an easy go and would do Sharkey up in a round or two. His over confidence came very near settling his future as a champion.

OF INTEREST TO HOUSEKEEPERS.

How Carpets Can be Evenly and Artistically Cleaned.

The American Agriculturist is authority for the statement that carpets can be easily and artistically cleaned by the following process: For a carpet of about 20 or 25 yards take a pound of hard white castile soap and scrape fine; add a quarter of a pound of washing soda and as much of the spirits of turpentine as will bring it to the consistency of dough; make it into a ball. When it is time to clean the carpet take a pail of hot clean water and a large flannel cloth, wet the carpet very slightly with the flannel, then rub over with the ball of soap, and wipe off the soap with the flannel as dry as possible. For Brussels and velvet, and other carpets with close heavy nap, this is an easy and very satisfactory method of making them as clean and fresh as new. Do not put on enough water to soak through but simply to dampen the surface.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

Mrs. Fleming, charged with poisoning her mother in New York, has been found guilty by a jury.

A fire at Red Bluff, California, destroyed $20,000 worth of property. A high north wind prevailed and the flames did not stop until an open space prevented their spread.

A tidal wave on the coast of Mendocino county, California, created much excitement. The swell was seven feet higher than ordinary and rushed up the rivers and coast with great force. The great wall of water is attributed to earthquakes in Japan.

Change of Firm.

Geo. Sauer, late of Washoe City and Fred Grob have succeeded to the butchering business of J. A. Holcomb at the Truckee Market. The new firm will endeavor as far as possible to sustain the good reputation so long held by this pioneer market, and will try to merit an increase of patronage by the choice meats and butchers' novelties they will have on sale. Mr. Grob was formerly connected with the market and is well acquainted with the needs of all patrons. The business will be under the personal supervision of the two proprietors and no pains will be spared to give the best of service in their line.

Announcement.

Mrs. M. Skinner desires to announce to the public that she will assume charge of the Riverside Photograph Gallery on or about July 1, 1896. She will refit and rearrange the gallery and have the latest and most approved apparatus in the business. She has also engaged an artist from one of the best galleries in San Francisco to assist her in the work. Pictures in every style will be made, and the latest fads in the business introduced. The prices of all work will be in keeping with the times and the best of satisfaction guaranteed.

Viavi.

Viavi is more of a food than a medicine. I should be glad to have those who do not understand its use, call and get a Health Book free and read the home testimonials. Viavi sales in 1895 exceeded those in 1894 by half a million dollars. Mrs. B. E. HUNTER, Fourth Street.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

SENATOR JONES ON THE SITUATION.

He Believes the Silver Men Can Win If They Unite.

Edward H. Hamilton, the New York correspondent of the San Francisco Examiner, telegraphs the following:

"You can't seem to understand that this is a year for the re-alignment of the parties," was the remark tossed by Senator Jones of Nevada into a group of New Yorkers in the Hoffman House lobby this afternoon.

"Don't you know that every forty years or so the parties break to pieces and the pieces reform in other parties? Well, this is the time for the breaking and reforming."

"Then you think the old parties are going to be abandoned and from this time out we are to have the big fight between the party of gold and the party of silver?"

"That's just it."

"But do you think all the silver sentiment can be concentrated on any one man?"

"That seems too bright a dream for realization under the present condition of our civilization. Still it may be possible, and if a union can be accomplished the silver men can carry the South, the far West and such pivotal States as Illinois and Iowa. Their victory will be certain. Of course, however, if they go to splitting off into Democrats and Populists and Silverites they will accomplish their own undoing and McKinley will be elected."

"Whom do you think is the man for the silver advocates to nominate at Chicago?"

"Teller, preferably. I know him from twenty years of association in the United States Senate. He is earnest in his convictions and honest in his dealings. Everybody in Washington has been forced to respect his ability and integrity; so Teller would be my choice. And I don't know that his nomination is altogether impossible."

"What about Sibley of Pennsylvania?"

"An excellent man, a good man and an able man."

"Do you think the Populists would endorse Sibley?"

"Certainly. I feel sure they would, and the Populists, mind you, have a fine organization and are going to show surprising strength. They opened the eyes of the people by their showing in Oregon. There it was seen how they had cut into both the old parties. Then, too, the Populists are going to modify their platform way down to a common-sense plan. They are going to get rid of a lot of the fads and isms which they have been fooling with. So the Populist endorsement of a man is going to be a great thing this year."

"What do you think of Boies?"

"A very good nomination."

"And Bland."

"Bland is a good man, perhaps hardly as able as some of the others."

"Or White of California?"

"He's an able man, but I hardly think they will go that far west. He might get the second place."

"Then suppose Teller were publicly promised the Secretaryship of the Treasury—what effect would that have?"

"A most excellent effect. Still, I'd like to see Teller get the Democratic nomination. The other endorsements would be easy enough. A gold Democrat on a gold platform, like these New Yorkers talk about, would stand no show in the world. In all calculations, however, you must take into consideration the possibility of a formation of an entirely new and distinct silver party. Suppose, for instance, Whitney and these people should go out to Chicago and debauch the Democratic Convention until they got a small majority for gold. The silver men would certainly bolt in a body. Then you would see a silver party which would be very formidable to the South and West."

"Do you mean by debauching the Democratic Convention that Whitney and the Eastern gold would buy up delegates?"

"Well, I'd hardly like to say that," replied the Nevada man with a smile, "but I guess if they found a man who had to borrow a little money about that time they would see that he got it fast enough. The gold men can't seem to understand that the silver people are desperately in earnest, and that all we want is to have enough money coined to elevate the plane of values. We are tired of seeing prices go down, down, down, and you'll see that the common people, the poor people, the working people, are with us. The Wall street rich men cannot grasp that fact at all."

Just here, General M. H. De Young came along and dropped into the chat.

"I'm for silver," he said, "but protection is more important."

"Oh, protection be hanged," retorted Jones. "This Wilson-Gorman bill is a protective measure. Quay got all he wanted of it and so did the other Senators from the manufacturing districts. We're manufacturing all our iron and steel and fabrics under the present bill. I'm as much of a protectionist as anybody, and we ought to do a little better for wool and a few other things. But protection will not bring prosperity the way silver will, so I'm against the Republicans and for silver."

"Well, protection and sound money will win against free trade and free silver," was DeYoung's response.

"Fudge about free trade," retorted Jones.

"But you will get free trade if the Democrats get in."

"Nonsense. Free trade couldn't carry even a Southern State now. That bugbear is dead for good and all. The money question is the question of this campaign, and the people will not have anything else."

"Don't you think that A. C. Cleveland and Overton and Enoch Strother of the Nevada delegation, who walked out at St. Louis, did so in order to secure political preferment?" asked one of De Young's friends in the group.

"I can't see where," responds Jones. "They knew they could not go back to Nevada on a gold platform with a gold candidate and have any hope of carrying the State. No, sir, the Silver people are very much in earnest in this fight, and the quicker the East realizes that fact, the sooner the Eastern politicians will understand the present situation. If the Democrats do not recognize the prevailing conditions at Ohio, you'll find a good many Silver Democrats and Silver Republicans supporting a Silver ticket or going over to the Populists. And so it is that the silver leaven is working in the golden lump at New York. But New York goes right along in the serene belief that it is the pivot on which the entire situation swings, and that what it wants it will ultimately get. New York is beautiful in its insular self-confidence."

THE "TAHOE" LAUNCHED.

Little Baby Bliss Performs the Christening Ceremonies in the Presence of a Large Crowd.

The steamer "Tahoe" was successfully launched at Glenbrook today. During last night a stiff breeze blew and it was feared that the launching would have to be postponed, but about 7 o'clock this morning the wind died down and the managers of the affair ordered the ceremonies to proceed. Crowds came early, and the steamer Meteor arrived at this point at 5 A. M. and conveyed the guests to Glenbrook. By 9 o'clock hundreds of people had gathered at Glenbrook.

The steamer was profusely decorated in bunting hung from large temporary masts. She also carried her flags and colors.

The Meteor then returned to Tahoe City for the San Francisco people, and the United States Inspectors arrived at 11:30.

Preparations were made for the launching, and Baby Bliss, aged 3 years, son of Will Bliss, was seated on an elegantly decorated stand and held in his hand red, white and blue ribbons attached to a champagne bottle, and on either side of him stood Miss Hope Bliss and Miss Ada Tobey.

The steamers Meteor and Emerald towed her off and amid the booming of cannon, seething of whistles and music of bands Baby Bliss broke the bottle of wine and the "Tahoe" glided out on the bosom of the beautiful lake for which she is named.

When out some distance from shore she presented a grand sight alongside the other vessels and in reality she is probably the best of her class in the world. The finest machinery ever put in a boat and the best ever turned out of San Francisco has been made for this steamer. The Union Iron Works Company has expended $15,000 more than their contract called for in making her the best and swiftest of her class in the world.

It was a gala day in Glenbrook and one that will not be forgotten by those present for a long time.

The boat will be tested for speed and sailing qualities to-morrow. O'B. McKinney's, June 24.

Justice Court.

The case of the State vs. Kelley occupied the afternoon yesterday before Judge Linn. A number of witnesses were examined for the defense regarding the authorship and publication of the alleged libelous article. It was shown that the article was written by H. H. Beck and published without the knowledge of Mr. Kelley. A copy of the Gazette of May 20, 1895, with the report of the proceedings of the Board of Commissioners on that day was presented.

Some other exhibits of newspaper articles published from time to time in the JOURNAL were filed in evidence. The evidence was closed at a late hour in the afternoon, and arguments in the cases of Beck and Kelley were set for Saturday.

HIGH SCHOOL EXERCISES.

An Entertaining Program and an Interested Audience.

McKissick's Opera House was filled to its capacity last evening, the occasion being the commencement exercises of the graduating High School class of 1896. The class consists of seven girls and two boys, and each and all acquitted themselves creditably. The program comprised "High School March," by the class; salutatory and essay, "Cuban Independence," by Annie Theelen; oration, "Ancient and Modern Warfare," by William Frank Berry; essay, "Rome Not Built in a Day," Annie Maude Conover; music, "Revel of the Leaves," High School; essay, "Educational Thoughts," Effie Julien; essay, "Two Great Republics," May Evelyn Kiely; "Gold or Knowledge," Edna Williams; duet, "Hark to the Mandolin," Bernice Worland and Kate Morklinger; essay, "Simon Says," "Thumbs up," Harriet Layton; double quartette, "Milkmaid's Song," Misses Worland, Nash, Morklinger, Sunderland, Masters Ward, Julien, Corris and MacCaran; oration, "Shall We Obey the Tide of Immigration," Charles J. Bready; valedictory, Catherine Gertrude Buncel; class song, "Marguerite"; presentation of diplomas, by F. H. Norcross, County Superintendent of Schools; address by President J. E. Stubbs; song, "Nevada," by the High School.

By special request Mrs. Layton sang "The Star Spangled Banner," and did it well, and the "Milkmaid's Song" was encored, in fact nothing could be done until the class returned to the stage and sang the cunning verses over.

Each feature on the program was well rendered and heartily applauded and all deserved praise.

On the platform were President Stubbs of the State University, H. O. Cutting, State School Superintendent; Judge Webster, Dr. P. T. Phillips, S. M. Jamison, and T. W. Boalt of the School Board. Principal Bray, Mrs. Doten and Miss Summerfield represented the teachers.

The stage was handsomely decorated. Festoons of white and yellow, the colors of the class, hung gracefully over the platform in the centre of which was suspended a large wreath of laurel leaves, and prominently displayed were the numerals "96" in yellow.

Superintendent Norcross presented the diplomas to the graduates whom he highly complimented. He said he learned from the teachers that the class of '96 was the peer of any that ever graduated from the school, and he might add from any other school.

Principal Bray introduced President Stubbs, who delivered an instructive and entertaining address. He referred to the great responsibility of teachers. The educational problem is the greatest that confronts us and made many apt comparisons showing the advantages and benefits of a good education.

He mentioned the various vocations opened to the educated, and compared them with the limited number from which the person who only understands the use of the shovel and spade has to choose. There is theology, the law, medicine and many other professions. Then there are numerous commercial pursuits. Transportation is a science in itself. It makes the world a unit and brings nations to each others' doors. Graduating from school is but one step in education. Life is a great school in which education never ends. Our public schools are worthy of the highest commendation, but the University which stands on the hillside should not be overlooked. The highest achievement of life is to be a man. Those who come here to make homes and send their children to our educational institutions should find a moral community. He predicted that the class would step out of the public schools into the University which the State had provided for the thorough education of the youth. The time has come for special training. Education multiplies opportunities and opens up many avenues.

Graduates instead of being confined to one pursuit have a number to choose from. He congratulated the class and was roundly applauded at the close of his address.

The exercises closed with a song by the class and instrumental accompaniment, after which, at the invitation of Principal Bray, relatives and friends went on the stage and congratulated the graduates.

IN THE MAGician's REALM.

Zamloch Gives an Excellent Exhibition at the Theater Last Night.

Zamloch, the noted magician and sleight-of-hand performer, is not a stranger to Nevada City and therefore many of the people who attended his exhibition last night went there with a full assurance of witnessing a first-class entertainment, and they, as well as all the rest of the audience, were fully satisfied.

"Billy," the slow-going assistant, is still with Zamloch and affords no little amusement to the audience. At the conclusion of the performance the distribution of presents took place, many useful articles being given away to the holders of winning tickets.

To-night there will be an entire change of program and another distribution of presents. The principal feat to-night will be the basket trick.—Nevada Transcript.

Zamloch will present his wonderful exhibition at the Opera House for three nights, commencing on Monday evening, June 29th.

Jack Caughlin as a Floriculturist.

Congressman Newlands, recognizing Deputy Sheriff Jack Caughlin's success as a floriculturist, sent him some packages of seeds and suggested that they be planted in appropriate places about the Courthouse lawn, and particularly around Jack's pet magnolia tree. Jack was elated, fully believing that he had received something choice. He called out one of his proteges and gave him the seeds with instructions to be very careful in planting them.

The proteges went to work and in a short time he had the seed in the ground, and the papers upon sticks, announcing the location and character of the seed.

Jack came around to inspect the work and upon reading the tickets was struck with horror on seeing "beets," "turnips," "beans," and "corn." He turned to his assistant, and remarked in his usually quiet but impressive manner: "You dod blasted idiot why didn't you read what was on those packages?" The answer came readily that it was presumed Jack was starting a vegetable garden and had procured the seed accordingly.

Jack was in a meditative mood all afternoon yesterday, and said that he supposed he would have to dig the whole d—d lawn up now in order to save it.

BEARS AFTER GRANT.

HOW THE GREAT MILITARY MAN MA-
NEUVERED FOR TIME.

Threw Trout From the Wagon to Appease
Bears' Appetite—The Bears Wanted Bigger Game, but Didn't Get It—The Old McKane County Guide's Story.

"General Grant was a great lover of trout fishing," said a guide, "and the most of all his outings was at Kane,
McKane county, Pa., in August, 1869.
I received a letter late in July of that year requesting that I get everything ready for a two weeks' fishing tour on the Onaway creek.

"This stream flows through the northwestern part of Potter county, one of the wildest forest sections. At that time I was living at Kane and spent all my time in the woods hunting and fishing.

"General Grant usually was accompanied by one or more companions, but this time he came to Kane alone. It was then, prior to leaving Kane for Onaway creek, that General Grant wrote his letter to Secretary of State Fish concerning the cession of Cuba.

"We were delayed 24 hours on account of that letter, because General Grant spent the whole day in thinking the situation over. The general was glad to get the subject off his mind for the time being, as he remarked to me, 'Well,
that settles Cuban matters with me until I return from this trout fishing trip.'

"I had the general's rod and flies in shape. We got on my old spring wagon and started for a farmhouse near Sharon Center. The roads were rough, and by the time we had covered the distance of 37 miles we were tired out, and the old hilly lay down. It was about 10 o'clock at night when we reached John Habersteen's home in the country. He had been expecting us and assisted in putting up the horse and showed us the rooms we were to occupy. We did not go to the trout stream the following day. 'Rest is more desirable than trout,'
is the way the general put it.

"While Habersteen was not acquainted with Grant prior to our arrival, he was a fast friend of mine, as we had gone to school together. General Grant soon made a warm friend of Habersteen.

"The first day's fishing along Os-wayo creek was successful, and we returned with a number of trout. It was a difficult trip to reach, and the country
simply abounded with wild game.
The general was fond of seeing deer go through the woods and was not a bit afraid of bears.

"General Grant was an expert fisherman, and could whip a stream with any of the pot fishers. He would never fish without his bait. But if it so happened that he had lost all his flies, he would put on whatever he could find and continue to whip the stream. The two of us in five days' fishing caught 712 trout, all good sized ones. We ate some of them, and the rest were packed in ice to be sent to friends.

"I shall never forget our return from Sharon Center to Kane. We had everything on the spring wagon, including the red trout. After traveling about four miles we passed through an exceptionally heavy woodland, and when we were about 200 yards from the woods two bears made their appearance. They halted along after us at a gait that showed us that they were gaining on the horse. They evidently had scented the fish and were wishing for a good meal.

"We did not feel much afraid until we came to discover that our guns and recoilers were left behind at Habersteen's house. The bears were gradually gaining on us, and it was time to be thinking about doing something.

"What was to be done in a case of this kind?" queried the general.
"The only thing I know of is to drive so fast that they can't catch up," I replied. But the faster we drove the more rapidly the bears ran.

"I know how to get away from them," exclaimed Grant. 'We will throw trout to the ground, and a few feet apart,
and as the bears stop to pick them up
we will gain so much by every fish.'

"Well, that looked like a great scheme. We began throwing the fish out, two or three at a time. The bears began to pick them up, but I'll be convinced if they didn't start to give the trout the go by and hasten their steps to catch up to the wagon. At the time we kept throwing choice trout in, the road to coax them bears to quit the chase.

"We concluded that the old horse would have to hurry. The whip was applied. We lost the bears, and in the village related the story of the bears following us to several farmers, who got guns and started after them.

"Do you know what those confounded bears were doing when they found them? They stopped at the end of the front trail and for a distance of a mile and a half back had eaten nearly all the trout. They evidently wanted bigger game, and when they saw they could not get it they were content to eat trout. The bears were overtaken and killed.

"At the village we looked to see how many trout we had left. To our surprise
we had only 250 out of the 700."—New York Press.

Luck.

"There is no such thing as luck,"
said Colonel North once. "Everybody in this world has chances—yes, everybody, from the working collier who strikes a seam of coal which was never thought of by the mining engineer to the colliery proprietor who gets information regarding that seam and resolves to work it. What people call luck simply means that a man sees his chance, holds on to it and at the right moment works it for himself. Luck?
Nonsense! Luck is simply the faculty of seizing passing opportunities."

PERFECT and permanent are the cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla, because it makes pure, rich, healthy,
life and health-giving BLOOD.

Scotch Farm Laborers

During the last 10 or 12 years we have witnessed in Scotland a enormous decrease in the number of "hands" employed in agricultural work. In 1871
there were in Scotland 165,096 farm servants, in 1881 there were 149,765 and in 1891 only 120,770. Doubtless more than one cause has contributed to this result, but in the main it must be traced back to two great central facts.
(1) During the last 20 years large tracts of arable land have gone out of cultivation. (2) During the same period there has taken place an enormous displacement of hand labor by machinery. Take the effect of but one single invention. During the past few seasons self binding reapers have rapidly sprung into popularity.

According to The Agricultural Economist, reaping and tying corn by manual labor used to cost from 8s. to 10s. per acre, but with the new machines it costs only from 1s. 6d. to 2s. 6d. per acre. In other words, some 20 or 30 youths can now perform the work that formerly required 50 able bodied men and an equal number of young lads and lasses. This is but one example out of many. True it is, a limited number of these crowded and peasants may, and doubtless do, find employment at some of the various kinds of unskilled labor,
even in a comparatively overstocked
city market. But without the inevitable result of all this must be the inhumanification of the rural population in town and country alike.—Western Review.

For your Protection.—Catarrh "Cures" or

Tonics for Catarrh in liquid form to be taken internally, usually contain either Mercury or Iodide of Potassium, or both, which are injurious if too long taken. Catarrh is a local, not a blood disease, caused by sudden change to cold or damp weather. It starts in the nasal passages, affecting eyes, ears and throat.
Cold in the head causes excessive flow of mucus, and, if repeatedly neglected, the results of catarrh will follow: severe pain in the head, a roaring sound in the ears, bad breath, and sometimes an offensive discharge. The remedy should be quick to allay inflammation and heal the membrane. Ely's Cream Balm is the acknowledged cure for these troubles and contains no mercury
nor any injurious drug. Price, 50 cents.
